

Camp Roger's November Focused Adventure: Fire & Water

Hello, Adventure Kids! This month we will be studying about Fire & Water!

Fire and water are two of Earth's most interesting and important elements. Through studying water and learning how to build fires, we will gain a better appreciation for both. We will learn together about depth, water quality, macroinvertebrates, pollution, water cycle, clouds, states of matter, flint and steel, heat, oxygen, physical and chemical change, fuel, and much more.

Join us for a day of fun and learning outdoors as we experiment with fire and water!
